IRELAND'S CHILDREN'S HOSPICE

General Election Campaign 2024

In addition to individual expressions of support from candidates, political parties have committed themselves to prioritising children's palliative care:

Fine Gael Manifesto: "Secure funding for LauraLynn: We will maintain a sustainable level of funding for LauraLynn, the National Children's Hospice, to support its vital services. • Develop a national palliative care policy for children: We will create a new national policy to address the specific needs of children with life-limiting conditions, ensuring they receive appropriate care and support."

Fianna Fáil Manifesto: "Develop a new national policy on palliative care for children and increase funding to children's hospice care."

Labour Manifesto: "Invest in improved palliative care and hospices, and in particular palliative care services for children with life limiting conditions."

Green Party Manifesto: "We will develop, fund, and implement a new national policy on palliative care for children with life-limiting conditions."

Social Democrat Manifesto: "Provide a sustainable level of funding for LauraLynn Children's Hospice, and commit to develop, implement and resource a new national policy on Palliative Care for Children with Life-limiting Conditions".

Solidarity - People before Profit Manifesto: "The development and implementation of a new policy on children's palliative care."

Sinn Féin: "We are fully committed to resourcing the national policy on palliative care and highly supportive of the work that you do."
