How to plan your Bake Sale

Set a realistic time frame that gives you time to plan, fundraise and promote. What day will your Bake Sale be? What time will it take place? Where will you host it? Who could volunteer to help you? If you're collecting money, you'll need permission from the owner of your venue.

Recruit some bakers

Share the load and get your friends and family to lend a hand by asking them to bring along their specialty bake, or simply pop to the shops!

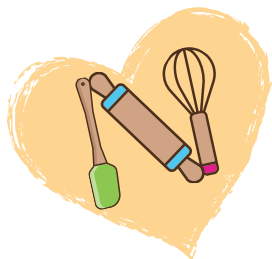

Decide how you'll raise money

You could set an entrance fee, price per slice, have a collection, and/or hold a raffle. We know people like a bit of friendly competition, particularly when it comes to baking! Add a bake off, best bake or guess-the-weight competition as part of your day and watch the donations roll in.

Place your LauraLynn cardboard coin box in a prominent place.

When you registered, we sent you an email to set up your iDonate online fundraising page. Share your iDonate link with everyone you know on social media, email and WhatsApp.

Download and print your iDonate QR code so people can scan & donate if they don't have cash. Just click the 'share' button on your iDonate page to get your QR code. iDonate also have an App! Get in touch with us to find out more.

Keep it safe

Make sure you follow basic hygiene principles when handling food. Use our branded price tags (you can download from our registration email) to let people know if they contain any ingredients that can cause allergies (e.g. nuts, dairy, gluten).

Spread the word

Promote your Bake Sale on social media, email and WhatsApp. You can also use the posters in your pack. You can print more posters from your downloadable pack in your email.

Decorate and welcome everyone

Use the balloons, stickers, posters to decorate the room! Download the LauraLynn bunting, cupcake flags and price tags from your email registration to add to your special day! Give your guests a friendly welcome and thank them for any plates of food they brought.
